

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A flexible diagnostic device has a measurement cell that is sandwiched between the conductive surfaces of two conductive-coated insulating layers. At least one of the conductive surfaces is scored with an insulating pattern, so that the flow of a conductive fluid sample into the cell can be monitored.

10

15

20

h:\Patent\LFS93App111.doc